

ARBuckle PARTY DESCRIBED BY MANAGER OF ACTRESS

Says Mrs. Delmont, "Fatty" and Sherman Garbed in Pajamas CLOTHES STREWN ABOUT ROOMS Comedian Shows Signs Of Mirth During Testimony

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—Alfred Semmacher, manager of the Arbutuck party in Fresno (Fatty) Arbuckle's hotel suite here which preceded the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, was heard today in the county court examination of Arbuckle on a murder charge. His testimony will be resumed tomorrow.

Semmacher was manager of Miss Rappe in her moving picture days, and drove her to the hotel where she died. He testified that he saw her in the room in which she died, and that he saw her in the room in which she died. He testified that he saw her in the room in which she died, and that he saw her in the room in which she died.

During the afternoon, he said, two of the women entered one of the rooms of the hotel, and he saw them. He testified that he saw her in the room in which she died, and that he saw her in the room in which she died.

"I am dying, I am dying," were the words Semmacher heard Miss Rappe utter after she had been found in a bed, unresponsive, and later found to have died.

Various means of restoring the girl to consciousness were suggested, but Semmacher testified that he saw her in the room in which she died, and that he saw her in the room in which she died.

When Semmacher testified that he saw her in the room in which she died, and that he saw her in the room in which she died, he testified that he saw her in the room in which she died, and that he saw her in the room in which she died.

WOMAN SAYS LIQUOR CAUSE OF SHOOTING

Says Pace Too Fast In Note Left For Sister

Second Victim Is Near Death Following Fray

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Shot and wounded three times by her former husband, who then ended her own life with a bullet, Miss Mildred E. Hume, daughter of the late Alfred P. Hume, whose manufacturer, tonight hovered between life and death in a hospital.

With the outcome of the fight in doubt, police took up a back trail from the scene of the shooting, tragedy into the world of "high life."

Blamed by Miss Hume's assailant, Mrs. Grace Lewis, for the recent murder and her own death, which impelled her to take her friend's life.

The case is too fast and the liquor has driven her crazy, she had written in a letter addressed to her mother.

Still another possible motive for the shooting of a man who was with Miss Hume when the shooting occurred, is being scrutinized by detectives who are trying to clear up the mystery of the case.

For more than three hours this man, John S. Jordan, importer and exporter, was questioned regarding details of the affair, as well as the circumstances of his acquaintance with the two women.

POLITICAL CANCERS

Report yesterday of the dispute between the Southern Chinese Republic and the administration of Macao, near Canton on the Chinese coast, is a reminder of the patchwork effect of the administration of the Chinese littoral for now many centuries.

Whatever respect the people of China have for themselves, and it is by no means insignificant, does not attach to their government, or to their nation in the political sense. For they have been helpless in the presence of foreigners for so many centuries that they have almost no national feeling. The present irruption of feeling in China that has made their race a factor in world affairs is a combination of the force of hundreds of millions in numbers, and the perils of mind and body that have come through many thousands of years of continuous unified culture. Added to this there has arisen the sense of nationality that has come to active Chinese through their education as students in Europe and the United States.

Macao is a type of the other side of the shield, the humiliation of China in the presence of every sort of attack. Since the sixteenth century, the Dutch, the Portuguese, the French, the British, the Russians and finally the Germans took one and another advantage of China. The ports were seized, at the convenience of these nations. Hongkong as British, Tonkin as French, Port Arthur as Russian, are but samples of this bloodsucking seizure of the ports of China.

Macao is the remnant of the once flourishing Portuguese East Indies holdings. Title to it, as between the government of Portugal and the Chinese empire has never been settled, the Portuguese claiming it as their colony under an agreement never to part with it to any other nation. It consists of a few gardens, a lot of buildings, and a trade once very flourishing but now very ill. Instead of being to the "heaven in his blindness" an example of European and Christian light, it has become a den where degenerate Europeans, and their more degenerate descendants, have maintained a sore spot on whatever healthy growth the Chinese themselves might have maintained. Its business has been gambling, gambling, traffic in men and women as slaves.

Of course Macao is an extreme example. Hongkong has not been a British Macao, nor had Tsing-tai been a German example of the same thing. But everywhere, little spots of one nation in the midst of another, are always likely to prove degenerative, especially when they are exposed to the influences of trade. Every foreign port, no matter how well managed, on the coast of China, is to China a cancer. And Macao has not been well managed. It has been a place of refuge for men of whom no country could be proud.

That the administration of Sun Yat-sen centered at Shanghai and Canton, should have felt called upon to maintain its authority as against the ruff raff of Macao shows that it has some elements of self respect.

"EXISTING COMMITMENTS"

This heading in the list of agenda for the disarmament conference is said to have aroused dissent among the nations that are coming to take part in the conference. And well it might.

The members of the conference will be like men fighting with one hand tied behind their backs, if they do not know the nature of "existing commitments." These commitments in international affairs will be regarded like mortgages as having prior rights. When an individual makes an agreement with a neighbor, it supercedes all previous agreements, at least as to the subject matter of the new contract. But if an individual enters into an understanding with a group of men, it does not vitiate previous agreements that he may have with certain ones of them.

It is working out this way with groups of nations. President Wilson in a childlike blandness went into the Versailles conference understanding that all previous agreements were off. But they were not off. No one presumes, after that experience, that the Washington conference will cancel authoritatively any previous understanding between nations. But it is hoped that the good spirit shown in this conference will effect a subordination to it of all previous contrary understandings.

Yet not even this is possible unless there is a frankness about "existing commitments." It must be appreciated by all that the text of all international understandings are to be legitimate subject for debate. They are to be "everybody's business." It must be impossible, during the conference to have "settled" questions appearing as rocks in the way of progress. In so far as the titles to the conference are concerned, "disarmament" and "Pacific" and "Far Eastern questions" there must be no rights reserved through any international agreements.

Of course the rights of individual nations are quite different. These are reserved to start with, and their nature is fully understood. They are not contained in secret international treaties.

The fight to have the conference "open" is not alone the question of having newspaper men there. It goes much farther. It goes to the question of having the men who are actually there informed of what they are doing. There is no value in mere presence if that presence cannot be intelligent and effective.

The conference may bring about a better basis for international co-operation. But it can only do so if all the factors in international friction are revealed. And the course of the conference must be "open" so that the people at home, as well as the conferees, can appreciate what is being accomplished.

DISTORTING NEWS

One of the oldest and best accepted rules about newspaper writing surely is that news should not be distorted. One must edit news to reduce it to mechanical limitations and also to eliminate from it matters that are trivial or that lack interest from the point of view of the particular readers of the journal. But distorting news, the giving emphasis to those portions of the truth that are of interest to the editor, is a much greater offense than the "coloring" of the news, because distorted news has a verisimilitude that colored news never possesses.

For instance, the Los Angeles Times. It has a chronic antagonism wherever organized labor is concerned. So it distorts the news about industrial conditions as well as coloring it. Yesterday the Times had a report from Chicago of the address of Senator John Dill, chairman of the Illinois Building Investigation Commission. Senator Dill's talk was a shocking revelation, from an informed and authoritative man, of the building ring in Chicago. He showed the way in which the housing problem in the second city in the United States has been used as a means of extortion. The price of building has been shot up to the highest possible notch through the activities of material men, contractors and union labor leaders. All have had some finger in the pie. Lumber men, hardware men, men who assumed the management of erecting buildings, the men whose business was the collective bargaining for labor, have been allied in the business of robbing the people of Chicago who have to pay rent.

All this is pernicious enough. It calls for vigorous action to restrain the conspiracy and to punish the conspirators. It calls for vigorous examination of the state and municipal laws to see if they are in part responsible for permitting such criminals to live off the public. It calls for acute action backed by strong public opinion.

But it does not call for the heading put on the news report by the Times. The heading reads: "CITY FEELS TYRANNY OF UNION GRIP."

The story itself, although an "exclusive dispatch," represents the statements of Senator Dill as showing a perversion of human activity whether classed as employer or employee, or workman or salesman. But the Times sees nothing in the dispatch except an opportunity to illustrate anew its particular bias against men who dare to pool their interests as workmen in a "union" organization.

The Tri-County Labor News (weekly) in its issue of yesterday, takes occasion to misuse a statement of a group of West Side Merchants as a means of attacking The Republican. No notice of this is necessary except to point out that naturally the work of a daily newspaper like The Republican is quite different from that of a special pleader for a cause like the Tri-County Labor News. The reports in The Republican have at all times been primarily directed toward giving the facts in this industrial dispute, and not the furtherance of the cause of either side. The Republican is only interested in the prosperity of the people of the San Joaquin, not of any special group of men, and it is interested in organizations only so far as they serve the benefit of the general public. The statement issued by the West Side Merchants' Protective association in regard to news treatment of the strike situation does not purport to apply to The Republican's reports, and does not in fact apply to them. The effort of the Tri-County Labor News to have The Republican's reports appear as one-sided are of no importance to those who actually read The Republican.

FORTY-NINE YEARS AGO

Plans for Irrigating
The San Joaquin Valley

It has been known for some time that a number of enterprising citizens have been maturing a project for irrigating the San Joaquin Valley. The services of Mr. Berenden, a competent engineer, who has had much experience in India in connection with the irrigation system in that country, have been secured. The water shed on both sides of the Valley has been surveyed, and a topographical map upon a large scale has been completed. The capacity of every stream has been measured, and its catchment area ascertained. The whole country from the headwaters of the Kern river to the Sacramento has been accurately delineated.

During the past year, not less than $250,000 have been expended in canals for irrigation in the same valley; and the results have demonstrated the feasibility of works on a much larger scale. It is proposed now, as part of a much larger enterprise, to extend a canal from Tulare Lake along the west side of the valley, near the foothills, to some point not far from Antioch. This canal would carry water enough to irrigate the entire western side of the Valley, where the wheat crop has failed wholly for two seasons in three for many years. Cross sections would be cut, so that every farmer who desired it, could secure the water for crops every year. This canal would traverse a region, say 150 miles long, without taking account of its branches. The projectors believe that they can do for the San Joaquin Valley what has been done for the arid and arid lands of India—that they can make this one of the most productive valleys in the world—that instead of falling crops, two crops can be secured in a single season; that where land is productive, there a large population will be concentrated. The enterprise has secured the favorable endorsement of some of the most careful business men in the State. But the project involves an amount of capital beyond that which private citizens possess. If the land interest of this great Valley is to be enhanced to the extent of some millions of dollars, it might be only reasonable that it should contribute something towards so desirable a result. Half a million people in the San Joaquin Valley, in possession of farms made the most productive in the State—all of them producers as well as consumers, it is claimed, would be among the most positive results of this enterprise. (Editorial in Daily Evening Bulletin, San Francisco, January 12, 1921.)

AND THEY OFTEN ARE

A good many statesmen would rather be light than President.

The Philistine isn't ready for self-government. Why the poor nut doesn't know the first principle of applying tar and feathers.

Diplomacy is the art of persuading the wife that she appeared unusually charming in the coat suit she bought last fall.

It was, you will remember, a "mellin's" policy that choked Greek falchioned philomphers to black-headed bookkeepers.

The difference between an Irishman and an American is that the Irishman thinks he isn't free and the American thinks he is.

It may be possible to establish Utopia, but America's history demonstrates that a multiplicity of laws won't turn the trick.

A financier remarks that getting up in the world requires great will power. So, for that matter, does getting up in the morning.

A CUP OF KINDNESS WHERE DIPLOMACY AND REASON FAILED

Uncommon Sense
By John Blake

Easy—If You Know How
With little effort, a professional golfer drives a ball three times as far as a beginner can by using all his energy.

In the professional's hands the club hits the ball in the right place at the right time.

A skillful chauffeur can almost instantly detect the trouble with a balky engine. The average car owner might spend a day on the same quest and fail.

By a touch of the tiller a good yachtsman can take advantage of a puff of wind and win a race.

The same puff might blow a bungler hopelessly out of his course.

Most things are easy—if you know how. It is the knowing how which isn't easy.

That takes years of patience and labor. Geniuses are people who know how without learning. But there are not many geniuses.

The trouble with most of us is that we want to know how when we begin.

We want to start climbing our mountains within a few rods of the top.

We want to play difficult pieces on the piano without troubling first to play scales and exercises.

We try to overtake success with a running jump, instead of stalking it painstakingly, and learning just how to make it sure.

And that is the reason why about seven people in every ten make pretty bad failures of life, and why only a very few attain any success worth the name.

Watch two experts play a game of billiards, and you will be amazed at the miracles the balls perform for them.

Take a cue into your own hands. Initiate their motions as far as you can. You will get no results at all.

The difference is not so much in the hands of the experts as in their brains.

Their brains you cannot see. And only by the same patient practice they have undergone can you make yours like them.

Being a billiard expert is not worth while. Being an expert in your own line is.

Know how to do that, and you will have no worries for the future. But how in mind the knowing how means years of effort and persistence and refusal to be defeated. You can't know how in a hurry, and nothing will be easy till you do know how.

Fresno's Yesterdays

Taken from the Files of the
FRESNO REPUBLICAN

Forty Years Ago Today

More Fresno Vineyards.—Mr. George West the well-known Stockton wine grower, and Mr. Thomas McIntire of this county, are engaged in diminishing the Chowchilla river near McIntire Station in this county, for the purpose of irrigation. They are the owners of six sections of land near there, five sections of which they propose to sell with water, reserving one section for fruit and vine yard purposes. It is their intention to put in at least 150 acres of vines this season. The soil is admirably adapted to the purpose, and with plenty of water and Mr. West's ample experience the venture can not fail to prove exceedingly remunerative.

Twenty Years Ago Today

Marco Suglian, a well-known restaurant man of this city, died yesterday morning. Coming from Mariposa nineteen years ago, he had been in the restaurant business here all that time. A widow and five children survive him. He was only 44 years of age and a native of Austria. Suglian on his arrival in California went to the mines and spent some time in Mariposa county, but he was quick to see the mining possibilities of Fresno and was here while the town was still young. He was a good restaurant man and began business in that way, but as he made his money he showed his faith in the town by investing here. His investments were of the kind that pay. They increased in value, and when he died he must have been quite a wealthy man.

Ten Years Ago Today

Dr. J. Nitobe, professor of law at the University of Tokyo, Japan, and president of the system of higher schools in Tokyo, arrived in Fresno last night and will remain here today.

Rev. Ray O. Miller, for the past two years pastor of the First Christian church of this city, will preach his farewell sermon this morning.

A New York preacher says it is all right to call a man a damned fool if he is one. This new theology is very confusing to the lay mind.

Positive, fleet, comparative, larger fleet, superlative, taxes.

PROTECT AMERICAN CHEMIST

From the S. F. Argonaut

The recent meeting in New York under the auspices of Columbia University of three thousand American chemists may serve as a reminder that the production of dyes is a matter of import to the whole nation and that it has a real relation, not only to the economic independence of America, but to the gravest issues of peace and war. And here we may usefully remember that if the nations of the world ever come actually to grips with the practical problems of disarmament it will not be only with ships and guns that they must deal. The chemist is today the most important of all munition makers. From the secrets of the poison gases, and if there is to be no limitation of armaments here we shall not have much cause for congratulation. It was the German chemist who discovered the secret of manufacturing nitrogen products from the nitrogen of the air and so gave to his country an inexhaustible supply of explosives. Without that secret Germany could never have waged her war. Without that secret she could never have swallowed the dye trade of the world. All other nations were compelled to buy and import their nitrates from foreign countries, notably from Chile. Germany was independent. She drew her nitrates from the air. And having the secret of the manufacture of so many chemical products, and they included some indispensable drugs—she was able to make threats of the most formidable kind. The German ambassador, for example, called to his government that four million workmen in America were dependent on German chemical products. It was substantially true. We can make our own explosives and we can make our own dyes without danger of any possible interruption of the supply as a result of war, and what that means to our policies on the Pacific Ocean need not be outlined. It is a momentous discovery. Should the American chemist, must be protected. There are many details of manufacture to be perfected, and the new industries can not find their feet as they should do. If they must fight their way against the imports from Germany with her vast mechanical and her low wages. The Argonaut is not among those who clamor for import duties in order that inferior products of home manufacture may supersede superior products of foreign industry, nor that undue profits may accrue to individuals. Germany was able to fill her war chest largely as a result of her chemical monopoly. She was able to place the whole world under tribute. She was able to make herself almost invulnerable in war. She was fully entitled to do these things, but she can do them no more—at least not in the old way. But if as a nation we are to reap the full fruits of this great chemical discovery, we ought to be freed in its early stages from the embarrassments of competition. We ought to accede to the moderate resolution passed by the American Chemical Society that "it urge upon Congress the necessity of including in the permanent tariff bill a selective embargo for a limited period against importation of synthetic dyes, chemicals, and explosives, with the confident hope that, in view of the important bearing of such action on economic development and on national defense, our representatives, regardless of political affiliations, will support this legislation."

ADMIRABLE BUT NOT PRACTICAL
From the N. Y. Times

Entirely and highly desirable would it be if the suggestion as to an international "second language" that was made by Arthur Elliot Brown in his book "The World of Tomorrow" were to be followed by all the civilized nations.

He proposed that in some way the nations come to an agreement on one language to be taught in addition to their own, everywhere to be taught. The German extends beyond the rudiments. This, as he wrote, could be done without any change in existing facilities or methods, and therefore would involve no new expenditures. The result would be that wherever anybody went in the world he would be able to talk to and understand all the people with whom he would be likely to have any dealings of interest or importance.

The advantages of this would be many and they are obvious. Against the plan there is to be urged only the difficulty of getting the greater nations to agree on a language to be used as the universal second. They all would admit the excellence of the idea, but it is much to be feared that each would see its own language as the only meritorious and logical candidate for this honor and that it will deny the claims to it of any other.

Once Latin was the second language of the educated everywhere, and it served the purpose well, but for some reason or other, perhaps because teachers lost the power of giving the sort of knowledge required for speaking and writing Latin readily—it was dethroned from its proud place, never, apparently, to be restored. Then French became the "language of diplomacy" for several centuries, but now English threatens to displace it, much to the alarm of the Academie Française.

JAPAN'S AID TO GERMAN WARFARE
From the N. Y. Times

Mr. Hajime Hushi, president of the Hushi Pharmaceutical Company, of Japan, has been given the "cane of chemical and pharmaceutical science." The German ambassador, Dr. Sell, in accepting the donation, expressed the belief that Mr. Hushi's generous gift would have the effect of "encouraging scientific research and of bringing Japan and Germany into closer relations." Mr. Hushi's gift was prompted, no doubt, partly by gratitude for what Germany has done in training Japanese students in these fields of science; for Japan has had many students in the German universities and technological schools, and continues to have. The Berlin correspondent of The New York Times reports that, of the 7,000 foreign students in these German institutions, 2,000 are Japanese, about the same number as before the war. Nearly two thousand more come, it may be noted, from the former Russian states.

Hiroo Kaneko, a well-known address of the Japanese at the Anglo-American conference of the East. But with such numbers of students in Germany (and Japanese students are to be found in the universities of other European nations, though perhaps not in as great a number), they are keeping abreast of other scientific achievements than those of England and America. They are more conspicuously than the people of any other nation, have become "bilingual." The first impression is that sending funds to Germany for the promotion of chemical and pharmaceutical research is "carrying coals to Newcastle." This suggestion of this saying is, however, of something superficial. Within the thought that must inevitably follow is that this gift is virtually encouraging an industry which has all the potentialities of future warfare. In its grasp—the industry which is to be found in Germany, many's mind, but which has in it still the greatest menace to the Western civilization, that Germany is rapidly sought to destroy. It is constantly carrying out research in the field of the production of the gas warfare began.

Please Don't Hilt Here

Strangers come here
To Sunshineville
From far and near
And look and wonder
As the eyes of them
See endless streams
Of flitting flivvers
Passing up and down
And others parked
Block upon block
For hours each day
On busy intersections
Of our city streets
Stand traffic cops
To guide the stream of traffic
And rules are made
So that each flivver
May only stand
For certain time
In certain spot.
Flivvers, there are
And super-flivvers
And lordly lights
And Sissing Sixes
And Quiet-Evenings.
As you might call them.
New ones there are
All gay with varnish
And others old
And weather beaten.
Some run in silence
And others cry aloud
The burden of their mishaps.
Big ones and wee ones,
Limousines and roadsters,
Red and blue and yellow,
Wire wheels and wood,
Dusty and polished,
Paid for and two months behind.
All kinds there are
And all conditions
Till one must know
That this is flivver age.

And that the old days
When Fresno was a spot,
Upon a sandy desert
Are past and gone.
We live in flivvers
And we die in them.
We visit in them
And we work in them.
We race in them
We spoon in them
And rest in them.
Those who have them
Want new ones
And those who have not one
Want any kind.
In yet, good friends,
And all the transformation
In our mode of moving
And in all the growth
Of Sunshineville
There yet are signs,
Stuck here and there,
That make us know
That we are builded
On old-fashioned ways.
That where the screech
Of flivver horn is heard
There once were horses,
Black and brown and bay,
And white and pinto,
And gray and dun.
And folks who drove them
Were fond of Fresno
And planned for it
To give it city ways
As one may see
Who'll park his flivver
Out on Fresno street
Across the pavement
From the South Methodist Church
And read an old sign
On an old, old post
That runs like this:
"Please Don't Hilt Here."

More Truth Than Poetry
By James J. Montague

The Crook's Golconda

Forgery has been flourishing in Sing Sing penitentiary

In the days when the pickings were easy.
And every one carried a roll.
The tyro in crime had a jolly good time
On half the money he stole.
Both burglars and pickpockets prospered,
Defaulters had money to loan,
The chummiest dips carried quarts on their hips
And had cars and chauffeurs of their own.
But times have been drastically altered,
As the business statistics reveal:
The fat profiteers of those wonderful years
Haven't got a dicker to steal.
And the crooks, having learned, as we all do,
That riches are prone to take wing,
Find their trade can't be plied with a profit outside,
And so they are working in Sing Sing.

Surrounded by innocent convicts,
And warden devoid of all guilt,
They learn that the time that's devoted to crime
Is well worth a criminal's while.
The state has abundance of shekels,
The inmates have savings to spare,
It's a safe pleasant hook for a good clever crook,
And a fortune is waiting him there.

With check-raising, forging, and so forth
The days are delightfully passed,
No "dicks" lurk about, hinting wrong-doers out,
And dragging their jailward at last.
The thief, as he rakes in the dollars,
Has only one thought to dismay;
If in breaking the law he's a little too raw,
The Warden may send him away.

A lot of money could be raised by imposing a sales tax on those schooners that have been run running.

EASY
The New England farmer doesn't need any still. He just fills a barrel with cider and lets nature take its course.

Victory

Translated by Edwin H. Zeydel from Detlev von Liliensorn for Post Lore

Fluttering colors
And crowds gaily singing,
Garlands of flowers
And battle hymns ringing.

Graves that are silent,
Drawn that are silent,
Withering garlands,
Long women, and fearful

Ardent embraces,
Long nights spent in waiting,
Hearts that are broken
And tears now falling.

AUTOS NOT TO BE STOPPED

Three Decisions Reached By Oil Workers

simply proves our sincerity. We do not want a continuation of strike conditions and are seeking a way out. We have accepted the $1 a day out, the open shops and we do not seek recognition of the union. What we want is industrial peace and harmony.

The peace move around much interest in the ranks of local producers, who were almost a unit in the belief that it was an evidence of a weaker condition by the strikers, but that it opened the way for concrete negotiations to end the strike, in the event the larger producers desired.

The offer to bring the strike to a "quick and satisfactory conclusion" was the union's answer to the statement of M. S. Whittier of San Francisco, chairman of the executive committee of the oil producers association, that the "operators were not prepared to receive any overtures from the strikers and are not in a mood to make any."

The governmental request for a delay in the ending of a statewide general strike was contained in the following telegram sent to the union council:

W. W. Davies, (federal conciliator) has been called to Washington for a conference on the oil situation and leaves tomorrow morning. We would impress upon you the necessity of restraining your people from further extension of the present strike. We will be advised further status of this situation within the next week. (Signed) Marsh and Connel, Oil Field.

A sudden switch in the assignments of the commanders of the strike was made today. Chairman Baker of the general strike committee switched from Bakerfield to Coalinga. President H. H. Sticker (taken over from the leadership at Taft) while advisor Yarrow, who has spent the major portion of his time in Coalinga, is to take charge of the Bakerfield district and its operators.

RICHIE MITCHELL BREAKS ARM IN BOXING MATCH

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 23.—Ritchie Mitchell, Milwaukee lightweight, broke his right arm above the wrist in the third session of a ten round, no-decision bout with Gene Rice of England tonight. State boxing chairman stopped the bout in the middle of the fourth round when it was seen Mitchell used only his left arm.

Two More Victims Are Laid To Rest

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Bodies of two more American naval men who lost their lives in the destruction of the dirigible ZR-5 at 11th Street, found a resting place today in Arlington National cemetery. Services with full military honors were held there for Lieutenant Commander Louis R. Maxfield, of St. Paul, Minn., who was to have commanded the dirigible on her flight in America, and for George Welsh, naval aviator, of Elgin, Ill.

GUNMAN SAID TO BE INSANE

Will Be Committed To Asylum

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Gene Geary, known as Chicago's "super-gunner" and twice a slayer, today was found by a jury to be insane and will be committed to a state asylum instead of hanging for the murder of Harry Trevelan, an innocent bystander in a saloon which Geary "shot up" several months ago.

"Charles Fitzmorris, chief of police, recently sentenced to jail for contempt of court because he criticized delay in the execution of Carl Vanderberg, who murdered, said the Geary verdict was "another travesty of justice."

"Geary will be out on the streets before Christmas," the chief said.

State Advertisers

Itself By Movies

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 23.—The state of Nebraska has put into the movie department of conservation has set up a complete studio at a cost of $20,000 and has started taking pictures. It aims to advertise Nebraska's resources to its own people and to its neighbors.

Films will be distributed free on a regular circuit throughout Nebraska, in farming, industry, education, state finance, state departments, and clubs are among subjects embraced in state movie program. Prominent people visiting the capital will be included.

The studio is located at the University of Nebraska, and much attention will be given this institution and the state college of agriculture.

HOLD STREET DANCE

The Modern Baseball Association will hold a street dance tonight for the benefit of the Modern Coyotes Valley league team.

GUARD ROADS TO OIL FIELDS

District Is Network Of Patrols

conference with the patrol leaders they agreed to cease halting persons in Kings county and to move back across the county line.

GUARD ROADS TO OIL FIELDS

Patrols to be maintained in the district.

Louis Patriquin, prominent man of the Parkfield district, reported yesterday that patrols from both the Coalinga and Santa Maria oil fields are being maintained in the district.

The road through the Coalinga and Santa Maria oil fields is the only channel through which autos can reach the city from the south, unless they journey around by one of the valley routes. A patrol station is also established in the White Creek district north of Coalinga, though there is little hope of any success in obtaining over the foothills to come here from that direction.

Two Southern Pacific passenger trains arrive in Coalinga daily. At train time a group of law and order committees are at the station and observe carefully all men who alight from the cars. Persons suspected of being job seekers are approached and asked their business. If they are unemployed and looking for jobs in the oil fields, conditions here are explained and they are requested to take the next train out. In case of necessity food and fare are provided, unemployed strangers during their brief stay here. To date but few men have come to Coalinga looking for work, since this city is so far off the main line through the valley and conditions in the oil fields are generally known to the army of idle men in California. Actually all have departed shortly after being approached by the strikers.

WINTER LEAGUE AT RIVERBANK

RIVERBANK, Sept. 23.—Riverbank base ball fans are very well pleased over the formation of the local winter league and that Manager Corbin has been successful in placing the Merchants team in the list.

The first game of the season will be played here next Sunday between the Merchants and Perfection Creamers. Several changes have been made in the line-up of the Merchants and several new faces will be seen in the first game of the series.

It is stated that if Manager Corbin can hold the men in the reorganized team through the series the pennant might as well be shipped to Riverbank now.

Murch has been chosen official umpire for Riverbank teams and this assures visiting teams a square deal from start to finish.

CLUB PLANTS YOUNG TROUT

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 23.—A shipment of seventy-five cans of young trout were received here yesterday, consigned to J. B. Davis, secretary of the Porterville Fish and Game Association. The cans, which came from the State and Game Commission, each contained 75,000 baby trout for the South Tule river.

CLUB PLANTS YOUNG TROUT

Trout were used in transporting the fish back into the mountains, and pack horses will carry the consignments to the remote tributaries of the South Tule river.

MARINES WIN RIFLE TOURNEY

CAMP PEIRY, Ohio, Sept. 23.—The National Rifle Association tournament in season here closed today with the United States Marine Corps winner of the national rifle team match, the feature event of the tournament with a score of 3319, fifteen points ahead of the United States infantry team which finished second with a score of 3294.

DR. J. L. MARTIN Has returned. Office, corner J and Fresno streets.

TAFT PROTESTS VOTE OF SOUTH

Declare Assistance Not Needed

"States, who made the announcement from the south concerning the strike vote, is not even a member of our council. We have had trouble with him before, and do not wish to have anything to do with him."

Throughout the local fields the policy of "watchful waiting" is being continued. Union strikers leaders are continuing their patrol system over the affected area under a volunteer system of the strikers, while operators have sent a committee to the fields for first hand information. There is apparently a lull in the real activities at the present time pending announcement from the operators as to what action they propose to take.

While no statement was forthcoming from the committee of operators at present in the field, rumor has it that employers are preparing a vigorous offensive in the present strike situation.

This is the consensus of opinion of those who came in touch with members of the committee from the operators at present in the fields. It is rumored that the offensive campaign is now completed in the rough, and that action by the operators is waiting the return of the committee with authentic advice relative to the tie up of production. A statement outlining the operators' position is to be released from San Francisco within a few days.

Many Leaving Fields In spite of reports to the contrary many citizens have already left the Midway fields. Strike leaders admit that during the first two days of the strike a number of oil workers left the community, but declare that few, if any, have left since that time. Union leaders claim that those leaving the fields at the present time are not oil workers, but are men whose positions and financial resources have been curtailed because of the strike.

Figures, however, at the Taft post office, as compiled by Postmaster Parsons, show a total of over 1400 "changes of address" at the Taft office since the strike started on the twelfth of this month.

PACIFIC COAST NET STARS WIN IN TENNIS MEET

Chick Evans and Hunter Go Down To Defeat

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—Both Chick Evans, American champion, and Willie Hunter, British titleholder were eliminated today in the semi-finals of the national amateur golf championship played in a driving rain.

Evans was not able to putt at any time after watching one short putt after another refuse to go down while Hunter sank his ball from any part of the green, the champion's whole game went stale. He was off direction with his wooden clubs, topped a breeze or two and, although pronounced by Percy Vardon and Jerome Travers the most exact iron player in the world, he eventually went out with both midiron and mangle.

Clifford Herd, of San Francisco, defeated Arnold Jones, of Providence, R. I., 4-5, 6-1, 6-4. Marshall Allen, of Seattle, defeated Carl M. Fischer, of Philadelphia, 6-4, 6-2, 6-7, 6-1.

S. Howard Voshell, of Brooklyn, and Vincent Richards, of Yonkers, N. Y., defeated Robert Kinsey and Willie Davis, both of San Francisco, 6-4, 6-2, 6-7, 6-1.

PAL MOORE WINS AURORA, Ill., Sept. 23.—Pal Moore of Memphis easily won a newspaper decision over Mildred Smith of New York in a ten round bout tonight.

ANCIENT AUTOS ENTER AD CLUB FAIR CLASSIC

No Machines Later Than 1910 Have Been Entered

Single Cylinder, 1899
Make Is Among
Entries

Out of barns and old sheds, out of junk yards and vacant lots and paint-shed, in many cases lacking valuable parts of motor equipment, come the finest cars of 19 and 20 years ago, in response to the Ad Club classic. Any doubt that may have been held as to the success of the event has been dissipated in the ready response of car owners. It is now a matter of selection.

Eddie Waterman, Fresno's veteran race driver has become the target of constant inquiry as to rules governing entry. While no limit has been set on the year of manufacture, no cars have been entered later than 1910, and as yet no four cylinder cars have been accepted.

Yesterday the Fresno Advertising Club appropriated $50 for the purchase of a suitable trophy. The Honorary President, Spring Company, will give a prize of fifty dollars for the car entered that has the most complete equipment of accessories including bumpers. This award will be made by the race committee.

Many Old Types In.
Many interesting stories connected with the development of automobiles have developed through the contest, according to Frank Munson, chairman of the race committee. Strange as it may seem, two cars of the type found to be still doing service. Ben Swanson of Del Rey has entered a Buick 1906 model. Swanson has not only entered the car, but has offered to give it to the committee permanently to be entered each year in the Ad Club classic.

The oldest car yet entered is an 1899 Winton, one of the very first cars of this class to enter the state. It is an old single cylinder affair, and capable of not making a speed of more than 15 miles an hour. But this old car when it was first brought to the contest by E. H. Waterman of Visalia, achieved the distinction of making the first round trip between Los Angeles and San Diego. The time for this trip was six hours, and at that time it was hailed as a remarkable achievement. Whether the old warrior will be able to come back and remain on the track during the five mile grand at the classic is a matter of great deal of speculation.

GRAZING FEES ARE REDUCED

Wool Growers Granted
Concessions

As a result of a meeting between railroad officials and representatives of the San Joaquin valley wool growers' association in San Francisco, modified concessions in the price of leased lands for grazing on the West Side have been granted by the railroad, according to a statement yesterday by John H. Bledsoe, an official of the wool growers' organization.

Bledsoe, who is one of the largest sheep growers of the valley, brings the information that on leases for grazing on the West Side the railroad has reduced average fees about 10 per cent.
The wool growers have been paying 25 cents an acre for grazing, and this is now reduced to fifteen cents. In 1919 the fee ranged from fifteen to eighteen cents, but last year it was increased to 25 cents an acre. The sheep business has "picked up" with the fall months, says Bledsoe, representing an increase of from 25 to 26 percent in pure wool and lambs. By the coming spring, it is expected that the sheep men will have a very good market for their product. Fresno county this season has about 300,000 ewes, according to Bledsoe.

For a good substantial, wholesome, delicious noon day lunch go to KAUFMAN'S SWEET SHOP. You'll like them and they only cost 40c. 1921 Mariposa street.

Dancing tonight, Winter Garden.

Passage of Stinson Water Plan Fails

According to the report made to the board of supervisors yesterday, 26 votes were cast at the election on September 15 for the formation of the Stinson Irrigation district and 10 votes were lacking of the 2-3 necessary to carry an election.

The vote is to be canvassed by the board tomorrow. It is stated that hereafter new district lines will be marked eliminating small property owners. Application for another election will be based on the changed boundaries.

Paddock To SPEAK HERE

Will Give Talk Before
Methodists

Charles Paddock, the "human flash," greatest sprinter of all time, is to be in Fresno tomorrow to speak at the Methodist churches here.

Paddock won the Olympic title in the 100 meter race at Antwerp. He has several times run the 100 yard in 9.3 seconds, and has standard records that until he appeared were considered unbreakable.

Experts who have timed Paddock say that he can run at the rate of twenty miles an hour, a remarkable speed for a human being. The Literary Digest, in an article of more than a page devoted to his athletic exploits, remarks that they will soon have to time him with an electric spark, the way they record the velocity of a bullet.

Paddock, as well as being a remarkable sprinter, is an all-around young man. At the University of Southern California, where he is in his senior year, he is on the debating team, and is manager of The Trojan, the university paper. In his hometown, Pasadena, he is a special writer for a newspaper.

Paddock is a Christian young fellow, interested in Sunday school work, and it is in this capacity that he comes to Fresno. He teaches a Sunday school class of boys in Pasadena, having made the record that he was back on the job teaching the first Sunday that he was home from Europe.

Paddock will speak at the First Methodist church, corner of M and Tenth, Sunday evening. It will be the concluding service of the Sunday school's rally day, and Mr. Paddock will speak on "Why I Believe in the Sunday School for Every-one."

In the morning at the Sunday school hour Mr. Paddock is to speak at the Grace Methodist church, and at the morning church hour at the Normal Methodist church.

Charles Paddock became famous as an athlete in 1912 when he represented the United States in the international sports in Paris. He was a lieutenant in the army at that time and won the sprint races in fast time. Last year in the Olympic meet in Belgium he won the 100 meters, took second in the 200 meters, and was a member of the winning American relay team. His athletic record is as follows:

90 yards	8.4-5 seconds
100 yards	8.3-5 seconds
110 yards	10.1-5 seconds
120 yards	12.2-5 seconds
150 yards	14.1-5 seconds
200 yards	19 seconds
220 yards	21.1-5 seconds
300 yards	30.1-5 seconds
400 meters	19.5-5 seconds
500 meters	21.1-5 seconds
600 meters	23.4-5 seconds

W. R. Price Going To Bankers' Meeting

Among Fresno bankers who expect to attend the national convention of the American Bankers' association in Los Angeles on October 2, in addition to those already announced, is W. R. Price, cashier of the Union National bank.

The convention will be one of the most important ever held, and valley bankers as well as those of Fresno will send a large delegation to Los Angeles.

It is not improbable that Fresno bankers will make the trip by auto caravan, leaving here about the same time.

GIRLS TO HIKE
Girls who want to join the Camp Warner (Gutter Club) in their hike this afternoon are asked to call on E. W. C. A. This morning. Each girl is asked to bring her own lunch and coffee will be provided.

The hike will be made in the direction of Sunnyside, and will not last over an hour. Dr. Neil Clark and Miss Brooks are in charge of the hike and Miss Edna Elderly and Miss Olive Branch of the general arrangements for the hike.

W. J. McCoy who wrote the opera Egypt in which his daughter, Mrs. R. G. Retalick, will sing the leading role tonight at Greek Theater in Berkeley.

Will Give Address On Unemployment

Sunday morning in the Unitarian church, the Rev. Thomas Clayton will deliver a lecture on "The Future of Unemployment." Mr. Clayton plans to give a close observation of conditions in evening meeting in the parlors of the Chicago and Pittsburgh recently, his speech commencing at 7:30 at which slides having much experience with Mr. Clayton will relate his vacation employment problems in experience. Music and light refreshments will be served. He will deal with the points will follow:

90 yards	8.4-5 seconds
100 yards	8.3-5 seconds
110 yards	10.1-5 seconds
120 yards	12.2-5 seconds
150 yards	14.1-5 seconds
200 yards	19 seconds
220 yards	21.1-5 seconds
300 yards	30.1-5 seconds
400 meters	19.5-5 seconds
500 meters	21.1-5 seconds

Society

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Seymour motored to San Francisco last Wednesday for a few days' sojourn. While in the north they plan to attend Grand Opera and also visit with their daughter, Miss Sylvia Seymour, who is a student at Miss Reid's school in Berkeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan McIndoo who have been attending Grand Opera in San Francisco are expected to return home today.

A wedding which will be of interest to many Fresnoans and especially to those who have lived here for some time is that which took place in San Francisco on Tuesday when Mrs. Victor McLymont and George C. Stewart were united in marriage. Mrs. McLymont was formerly Miss Susan McLymont of this city and made her home at the Sunnyside

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Alexander entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of a series of parties which she has been giving this week. Asides and games were effectively used about the living rooms where the four tables were arranged for the bridge players. At the conclusion of the games prizes were awarded to Mrs. George R. Walker and Mrs. Alice Daily Smith. The serving of delicious refreshments on table trays concluded the afternoon's pleasure.

Miss Dorothy Burdick who recently returned from a several months' trip to Honolulu, motored down from San Francisco yesterday to spend a few days with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Burdick.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bundy and their daughter, Miss John G. Wright, former residents of Fresno have been in town for the past few days visiting friends, but will return to the city today. Mrs. Wright, who was formerly Miss Florence Bundy is making her first visit home since her marriage last April. The wedding took place while both Mr. Wright and Miss Bundy were attending the State University of Iowa.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Dietrich has been saddened by the arrival of a baby girl in their home. Mrs. Dietrich was formerly Miss Leslie Baus.

Mrs. Ralph Watson entertained the Bledsoe family yesterday afternoon at her home on Tenth street and after the usual rounds of bridge, the prize was found to belong to Mrs. Edwin E. Bledsoe. Mrs. George Hammett of Berkeley, a former member of the club, enjoyed the meeting as a guest. Refreshments were

These Man-Made, Man-Tailored New Fall Street Suits

Tell a mighty interesting story in Quality and Style at their low pricings

$35 $45 $55

Every suit lives up to the high standard of Quality and Style set by Roos Bros. to make value paramount. The poise and confident assurance to be gained by wearing such high-quality man-made, man-tailored street suits is a distinction every woman hopes to attain. The best quality Yalama, Tricotine, Velour and Duve de Laine fabrics are used—and fashion's guiding signs point to cleverly executed embroidered designs which add richness to every model on which they are used—beaverette or mole collars decorate some, while others are plain tailored.

Little Girls Will Love These Smart Looking

New Fall Coats $11.50 to $20.00

Classy little coats for school or dressy wear, for little girls from 6 to 14 years of age. Polo cloth, Bolivia and Broad cloth are very attractive in rose, copenhagen, browns and tans. Some have fur collars, while others are trimmed with embroidery and buttons.

Just Unpacked, Some Exquisite "John Kelly"

Black Satin Pumps at $12.50 pair

Black satin pumps are Dame Fashions very latest dictum—they're exceedingly graceful with high French heels, hand turn soles and one strap.

Luxurious in quality and style only, for they are really very moderate in price. Just $12.50.

TO CONSIDER GRAIN BRANCH

Annual Convention To Be Held

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Relation of the Grain Dealers National Association to co-operative grain marketing companies recently set under way by several former organizations will be a subject of consideration at the grain men's twenty-fifth annual convention opening here Oct. 3. An attendance of 2,000 representing the Chicago Board of Trade, other grain exchanges, and individual grain men is anticipated.

A special committee of the grain dealers' association, which has been conducting an educational campaign among farmers in which grain pooling has been touched upon, will report. Farmers have been urged by the committee to study grain pooling contracts closely before signing. Future activities of the committee, it is expected, will be determined by this convention.

World finance and foreign trade, as well as recent legislation governing grain exchanges and marketing problems will also be discussed. Speakers announced include E. S. Sponner, Merrill McCormick, David H. Forgan, president of the National City Bank, Chicago; Joseph D. Griffin, president of the Chicago Board of Trade; Governor Warren T. McCarty of Indiana; Frank G. Lowden, former governor of Illinois; Asbury C. Lever, of the Federal Farm Loan Bureau, Washington; and H. H. Cline, of Waco, Texas, president of the Grain Dealers National Association.

Abolish Epidemics By Health Campaigns

LIMA, Sept. 21.—Epidemics of the yellow fever on the west coast of South America are not likely to recur owing to the rigorous campaigns that have been directed against the fever during the past year in northern Peru and Ecuador, says Dr. J. H. White, assistant surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service who has arrived here. He is special yellow fever commissioner for the International Health Board, Rockefeller Foundation, and has been inspecting the results of the sanitation campaigns in both countries.

Home---To Starving Russians

Hut of grass and rails near Petrozavsk, Russia. Russian families, struggling to leave the famine-stricken regions before death overtakes them, make their temporary homes in huts of grass, old lumber and mud. Nights whole families lie packed together on the dirt floors of these shelters. This photo has just arrived from the famine area, where the American relief commission is now seeking to aid the refugees.

Dr. White believes that the campaigns directed by Dr. Henry Henson, American physician, and the Peruvian government, have been so successful that the fever in epidemic form in Peru is a thing of the past. No cases have been reported in Ecuador for more than a year. It is said, and no new cases have appeared for more than two months in the northern department of this republic where nearly 1,000 deaths occurred in an epidemic early in this year. The sanitation campaigns, designed among other things to wipe out breeding places of the stenomyia mosquito, the fever carrier, will be continued in both countries for a year as a measure of precaution. The anti-yellow fever organizations then will be dispersed.

INTERNATIONAL BAR TO MEET

To Promote Cause of Justice

CINCINNATI, Sept. 21.—The second annual conference of the International Bar Association which is to be held in Peking, China, October 24 to 26, will inaugurate the beginnings of an attempt to promote the cause of uniform justice in the world and so ultimately of international peace, according to Dr. H. Masumura of Tokyo, its president.

Dr. Masumura is now in America after attending the 1919-20 session of the American Bar Association here. His body was invited to ally itself with the international organization, and lawyers of the American bar were invited to participate in its conference. He will also attend the Canadian Bar Association meeting before returning to Japan.

The first meeting of the International Bar Association was held last year in Japan. Its object was defined to be "to promote justice by the cooperation of the members of the bar throughout the world." Its ultimate aim, according to Masumura, was to attain permanent world peace by the power of a commonly accepted standard of justice.

The principal business topic of this year's convention will be a consideration of the points of view regarding justice, which, according to Dr. Masumura, differ widely in different countries, despite the fact that the world has seen but two systems of jurisprudence, the civil law and the common law.

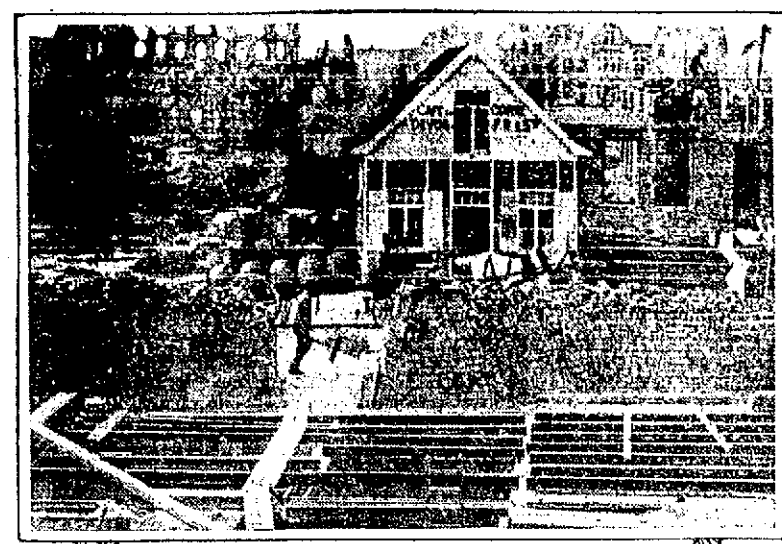

The International Association in 1919 should have its work in America and Europe, where the common law, which had integrated a multitude of local

"In our opinion the International Bar Association is an indispensable auxiliary of every political enterprise of which the League of Nations is an example," Dr. Masumura said. "It is an instrument to bring nations together in better understanding, particularly the East and the West, whose modes of thought are totally different."

"It should acquire in time among all nations authority to dictate standards of international justice to be enforced by all the nations at the command of civilization. This could prove the one essential bond of union and understanding between the Occident and the Orient."

Railroad Furnishes Indians Free Rides

GLAZIER, Ariz., Sept. 21.—Free rides for Apache Indians on the Arizona Railroad across the San Carlos reservation are going into their third year.

The contract with the railroad the Apaches were permitted to ride free for thirty years. As the line was completed in 1891, they have had twenty-one years of free rides.

For two years this railroad, first known as the Gila Valley, Globe and Northern, was held up because the Indians would not grant a right-of-way across the reservation. A gentleman was finally arranged. Gifts of money and blankets were exchanged and the problem was solved. Each Apache received the cash and a 30-year pass.

THE LAST DAY! of the PIANO and PLAYER BARGAINS

If you would profit largely we advise you not to miss this final day. The bargains that will be made Tomorrow will probably never be equaled again in Fresno. If you come you will convince yourself.

TOMORROW IS THE LAST DAY

The doors of the big bargain sale positively close tomorrow. We hope you will have made your choice of one of these bargains, and if so, we congratulate you on your foresight. Remember, this is no penny saving proposition, but means many dollars, probably hundreds of dollars to you. Yes, many pianos have been sold, but there was an immense stock to start with, and we are sure you can find a piano to please you. Come early in the day and get the best choice.

Specials on Player Pianos

In the stock we have left, are several players in the finishes of Fumed Oak, Walnut and Mahogany. Some of these are the famous "Plus Players." The Solabelle. You will be surprised at the prices that you pay these guaranteed players. We do not quote prices here, as we do not know what we will have left when you come in, but the day will start with one or two as low as $405.

EVERY PURCHASE GUARANTEED

The Hockett-Bristol Cowan Co., put their 25 years of reputation behind every deal and guarantee satisfaction. Any correction will be made at any time at our regular store. Here is a real sale, where you get a bargain that you take no risk on.

ONE DAY ONLY---COME EARLY

If the buying public only knew the bargains of this final day, the pianos we have left would last less than an hour. We certainly intend to clean up this stock if prices will do it. Will you be here?

TERMS, TOO

While we must realize cash from this sale, we have arranged to make some very liberal term propositions.

Open in the Evening.

'RUSSKY' HAS FOUND HOME

Soldiers Adopt Lad of 14 Years

HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 21.—Nichol Morozhenko, alias "Russky," a piece of driftwood on the tidal waves caused by Bolshevik and the world war in the sea of Russian life, has found a home here in the arms of the Twenty-Seventh United States Infantry, after a perilous adventure rarely experienced by fourteen-year-olds outside the pages of fiction.

According to the officers of the company, which served in Siberia, where Nichol was adopted, his father was a captain in the Imperial Russian navy who perished when his command, the Alexander III, was sunk by a Black Sea by a German battleship in 1916.

Nichol's mother had died when he was four years old and he had no other relatives. He drifted into the company of Russian soldiers whom he accompanied to Siberia over the frozen steppes.

The boy soon found himself among Bolsheviks and outlaws gangs of stray Russians, Koreans and Chinese. Near Vladivostok, 5,000 miles from Odessa, his birthplace, Nichol was injured in a skirmish. He still bears on his forehead the scar of the wound.

The soldiers planned to attack a detachment of the United States Infantry. In July, 1919, sent Nichol as a boy because he could speak Russian, German and Polish, but not English. The boy was given an army coat and represented by telling the regimental officers, through an interpreter of the outlaws' proposed attack. The result was that the outlaws were repulsed and Nichol was adopted as the regimental mascot. He was taught English, fed and clothed.

In April, 1920, the regiment was ordered to Manila and the boys were faced with the problem of getting Nichol aboard the transport without having to answer too many questions. He was dressed in a private's uniform and he stole aboard among some boxes and stowed away out of sight of the ship's officers during the voyage.

At Manila Nichol stayed with the ship's regimental cook, Alvin Miller, for eleven months. Then he became acquainted with Company G of the 27th and when that organization was ordered to Honolulu, he decided to stay with his latest foster-parents. In a soldier's uniform he boarded the transport Thomas, was discovered by the ship's officers and put ashore. At dawn the next morning he climbed up the ladder at the ship's side and stowed away again. He was successful and arrived in Honolulu with the 27th early this year.

For the past five months Nichol has attended school at Schofield Barracks, where "his company" is quartered. Now he can speak and read English.

"I intend to become an American citizen," he said. "I want to stay with my company here."

As the first step toward American citizenship, the boy has changed his name from Nichol Morozhenko to Nicholas Morris, but to his soldier foster-parents he remains "Russky."

Intelligence Tests Tried in Schools

The dull students, under the theory, would be given instructions suited to their abilities. The verbal tests were devised to test arithmetical reasoning, sentence construction, logical selection of words in sentences, general information, vocabulary, analogies and comparisons.

While a complete report has not yet been made of the results, the tests in some schools showed a considerable number of high school students whose mental age was below that of the normal pupil. Many of the low-scoring students showed that they had been advanced through the grades too rapidly.

Tennis "Whiz" Is

Champion Wearer of Paris Styles

Miss Suzanne Lenglen in one of her Paris creations.

Miss Suzanne Lenglen, the matchless Suzanne, is not always the leaping whirlwind she is so often pictured. In need, even in "doing her stuff" on the tennis courts, that frenzied, garter-showing leap is the least of it. With her feet gracefully on the ground she seems to swim handily enough.

And off the court—well, the accompanying picture speaks for itself. Who will say she isn't a champion dresser? A regular ultra-ultra, knock-'em-dead apparition of how most girls would like to look.

The gorgeously embroidered and thoroughly feminine affair she is here shown wearing is one of her country's latest fashion creations. The picture was taken at the South Orange Country club. Can you blame the days when being an "athletic girl" was so often that precursor of the "crazy girl" who later took leave for Dad or Brother Bill?

Miss Lenglen will probably continue to wear her fashionable clothes (instead of her tennis togs, for her physicians have forbidden her to play any more tennis for some time to come. Her intended tour to play the leading tennis women in this country has been cancelled.

Deep Ocean Life Will Be Studied

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 23.—Dr. Johannes Schmidt, famous Danish biologist who discovered the migrations of the eel, is about to start on a new expedition to American waters to study life in the depths of the ocean. He will be accompanied by a group of young scientists. His purpose is to demonstrate another new theory in oceanography.

The former Danish mine traveler, Schmidt, will be used in the expedition. It will be recalled that Dr. Schmidt ascertained that eels migrate from years in the fall for spawning at a place in the ocean 500 fathoms deep off the coast of the Virgin Islands, in the West Indies. There the eels, true eels die. The young eels to whom they give birth go not to America, the nearest continent, but to Europe, seeking the fresh waters where came their ancestor.

Portuguese Publishers Are Arrested

RAYMOND, Sept. 23.—Local residents are endeavoring to establish the connection between a recent newspaper article which stated that individuals would be allowed to make 2000 gallons of grape juice for personal use, and the arrival here this week of two full carloads of new barrels. It was assumed today that another carload was to be delivered to Raymond settlers tomorrow.

The hills in this vicinity, especially along the riverbeds of the Chehalis and Dugway rivers, are rich in wild grapes which in full season not only excellent jelly, but also admirable wines. The wild grape crop is estimated to be about 75 per cent short this year and becoming fully developed during October.

YANKS FEEL INDIANS; BUFF WINS BANTAM TITLE

RUTH'S HITTING AND HOYT'S PITCHING ENABLES YANKS TO WIN FIRST GAME

King of Swatdom Smashes Out-Three Two-Baggers And Is Instrumental In Downfall Of Pitcher Coveleski

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Splendid pitching by Hoyt and strong hitting by Ruth and Pipp enabled New York to win the first of an all important four game series with Cleveland today 4 to 2. Hoyt was in trouble only in one inning, the fourth, when Cleveland scored its two runs on Gardner's single, Sewell's triple and a wild pitch. In the last five innings Cleveland only got three men on bases.

Fifth-Defeat For Coveleski

Coveleski also pitched well for Cleveland but met with his usual poor luck against the Yankees, who have defeated him five times in six games this season. New York also clinched the year's series from Cleveland today's victory being the 13th in a row against the Indians. Ruth smothered Coveleski's batting, knocking three doubles and drawing a base on balls in four times up. He scored after each of his three hits, though he failed to score after running to second on his third two bagger. Score: CLEVELAND: 1; NEW YORK: 4. (Continued on page 2)

LOCAL S. O. NINE MEETS LEMOORE CLUB TOMORROW

Visiting Club Holds South Division Title

The Fresno Standard Oil baseball aggregation will take on the Lemoore team here tomorrow on the Fresno field at 2 o'clock. The Standard Oil club has been playing Standard Oil organizations off the past two months and have won five out of seven played, being only to the Stockton team. The game will be the first of a series of three to be played here, in which the local club is a 11-hitting affair has been called a no-contest game. The teams scored in the fourth, but a rain delay by the umpire caused the game to go 14 innings and the locals lost.
